

📷 Logan seniors can look forward to better housing support.

— Logan

New research will provide Logan senior's better housing support

Judith Kerr, Albert & Logan News

May 17, 2017 11:00am

LOGAN seniors living in public housing can look forward to even better housing support thanks to a groundbreaking research project, the results of which were released last week.

Brisbane Housing Company, Churches of Christ in Queensland and the University of Queensland surveyed more than 150 Logan seniors aged 55 and over who lived in government housing.

Housing Minister Mick de Brenni said most tenants were satisfied with their home, but some had concerns about whether their homes would still be suitable for their needs five years from now.

He said seniors in public housing still remembered the Campbell Newman government's letter to tenants suggesting they may have to move homes or share with strangers. Findings will be included in a 10-year state plan for seniors.

State Labor MP for Logan Linus Power said development and refurbishment projects in Logan would be part of the Better Neighbourhoods Logan's project.